In reference to the trial of canal steamboats competing for the $100,000 State prize in New York, the Evening Post, of New York, says: "The trial of the steam canal boats, begun last Wednesday, has shown that none of them come up to the requirement. It is probable that the C. C. Pope comes nearer to the requirement of the law than any other." One of the conclusions said to be arrived at is that it is quite impossible to invent machinery that will propel a boat carrying two hundred tons at a less cost than when moved by horse power, with the present dimensions of the New York Erie Canal.

PRESBYTERIAN SYNOD OF MISSOURI .-- The Independent or Old School Presbyterian Synod of Missouri met in St. Louis on Friday. This is the synod which in 1866 "asserted a declaration and testimony" which caused it to be ruled out of representation, and which led to its secession route. The special location of these different from the Northern General Assembly, to which it then belonged, and since when it has been independent of all higher bodies.

The most interesting question before the Synod was a proposition to unite with the Southern and Reformed Church. A lengthy discussion was had, in which Rev. Dr. Brooks, of St. Louis, was the most prominent opposer of the proposition.

NEWS OF THE DAY

"To show the very age and body of the Times."

The Commission of U.S. Engineers appointed by the War Department to examine whether the bridge now in process of construction across the Mississippi river at St. Louis will, when finished, obstruct navigation, have made a report. They find that the bridge, already designed, will prove a serious obstruction to navigation, and as it is impracticable to change the plan of the bridge or raise it, except at an enormous expense, they recommend a canal or open cut behind the castern abutment of the bridge, 125 feet wide, extending from a point 500 feet above the bridge to 300 feet below it, with a draw of the same width.

Ten miles above Osceola, Arkansas, on Fri day last, the steamer Mary E. Poe was discovered to be on fire. The flames had gained such head-way that she was run on a bar, but the deck passengers were forced to swim for their lives. The clerk reports that there were sixty-five persons on board, of whom the chambermaid, one cabin boy, one cabin passenger, and one male and two female deck passengers are missing. The pilot was badly burned before he left his post. Several passengers were also badly burned, but none seriously The Poe was a large stern-wheeler, and a St. Louis, and Red River Carter line carrier.

> CARE OF COWS IN AUTUMN. - An enterprising farmer of western New York communicated to us recently his practice in the management of his cows during the season when grass begins to fail. He says the great secret of rearing and feeding stock successfully, is to keep what you get-to save every pound of flesh and fat that is produced. The question lying still back of that is, how shall the fat and flesh be retained? What to do and how to do it is the question. Hitherto I have always commenced feeding my cows with meal in October, and continued the regular extra feed through November; and we made more butter in one of those autumn months than in any other month of the grazing season. I have a pint cup with flaring sides, that holds, when dipped in and heaped up full, about two quarts of good Indian corn and oats, of equal parts, made of the pure grain. I never "cob" my animals. I am down on that cob system of management. With every fifteen bushels of corn and oats I mingle, before it is ground, about one bushel of flaxseed. This improves the quality of the feed for animals of any kind, as ground flaxseed, when mingled with grain, is far better for milch cows, for horses, for fattening sheep or for young stock of any kind, than all meal. I sow a little flaxseed every year for the express purpose of having the seed to mingle with the grain that is ground into meal for my cows and other stock. I think this is the true way to make money-to save all that is made without losing any portion. The little losses abstract the profits. - New York

THE WATER-LINE ROUTES. - There is trustworthy authority for the statement that the Senate Select Committee on Transportation have agreed to report in favor of three waterline routes from the West to the seabourdone northern, one central and one southern routes has not been determined. It is stated that the recommendation as to the southern route will be in favor of the St. Philip's canal, around the mouth of the Mississippi. The estimates for this work are six millions. It is expected that all the Mississippi and Missouri river valley States will be united in favor of this scheme. The projects for a seacoast canal in the extreme south are so crude that the committee are understood not to favor them. Letter from Petersburg.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.] PETERSBURG. Oet 18 .- All is excitement in this beautiful little city, owing to the financial troubles and the closing up of several of the leading business houses yesterday by the U. S. Marshal. The Appeal does not give the full details of the affair, but alludes to it in a local. Money is scarce here.

Park Aguew, esq., has been here boking after money due the coal companies he represents. He left last night for Baltimore.

Radical rule and negro office holders are certainly piled on here. The clerks in the postoffice are colored and the police are colored. I did not see but one white one and he looked as if he was out of place. The city is ruled by the negroes. I had the pleasure of calling on Miss P. with a friend, who resides on Bollingbrook street, last night. She is one of Petersburg's fairest daughters, and has the sweetest and clearest voice that a female was ever endowed with. It is here that I have spent one of the most pleasaut evenings during my trip. And it is here, in the heaven of Virginia beauties, that I would anchor, but for several little "responsibilities" in Alexandria.

All the merchants are sanguine of a speedy return of better times. This city has certainly

PRINCE WILLIAM Co. - [From the Manassas Gazette.] - The Circuit Court met at Brents-ville on Monday, Judge Keith presiding. As all the civil cases of the County Court had been transferred to the Circuit Court docket under the new law, it was expected that the session of the Court would be a long one, but, on the contrary, it was a short one, as the Court adpurned Thursday morning. The jury cases decided were as follows: Love vs. Bailey, for wharfage near Dumfries, verdict for defendant; Kincheloe and Pearly's administrator vs. Wm. Brawner's escate, verdiet for plaintiff; E. V. Weir vs. W. J. Weir's administrator, verdiet for plaintiff; Reamer vs. Ashe, non-suit for defendant. In thelitigated case concerning Mrs. condition of a public highway was discussed by Gen. W. H. A WORD IN SEASON. -The following, which we copy from the Chicago Tribune, is a word

"One thing every man ought to do at this time-viz., pay the small current debts which. as a rule, are held by minor dealers or workmen, who need their money from day to day. There is no doubt that the 'panic' has served as an excuse for not paying bills which might have been discharged as well as not. The time has passed when this excuse has even a plausibility with regard to the debts in question. For all the every day purposes of life there is now an ample amount of money in circulation

To the poorer classes, cents are of the same value as dollars are to those of the wealthier classes. However the capitalist may be embarrassed by the panic, he certainly has a sufficiency of small change to pay his way in dealings with those persons whose utmost claims are only a few dollars. We consider the language of the Tribune as being spoken at the right time, and in the right manner. And we endorse every word of it. Panies are bad enough without making them stupendous pretexts for withholding the pittances that are due to those who have no credit with which to sustain themselves in obtaining the daily necessaries of life.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 -- It seems now to be doubted whether the consent of a sufficient number of the creditors of Jay Cooke & Co. can be obtained to the appointment of Mr. Rollins as trustee for the firm. At the time, this was regarded as rather cool, and but little importance was attached to it. It is a fact, however, that a movement with this object in view has been initiated, and has already become quite respectable, so far as influence goes. A main point in this scheme, is the pressure which is expected to be brought to bear on Congress by the religious press of the country.

MURDER OF THE BISHOP OF ST. PIERRE-STABBED WHILE AT PRAYER .-- The New York Post states that private advices have been received in that city from the French settlement of St. Pierre, giving information of the assassination of Mons. De Vere, the first bishop of that diocese, as follows:

"The bishop was murdered in the sacristy of the chapel of St. Jean de Dieu, having been stabbed in the heart and lungs while at prayer. Two dirks were found on the floor, and one Emil Pelletier, a cousin of the bishop, was charged with the crime and arrested. It is said that the crime was incited by the fact that Bishop De Vere inherited all the fortune of Pelletier's father, a wealthy Frenchman, and once an extensive stockholder in the Messagerie Imperiale Steamship Company. The bishop's remains lay in state on the evening of the 9th instant, when the murder was perpetrated. The chapel was densely thronged, and great excitement prevailed throughout the settlement. The murdered bi-hop was consecrated in August last by Archbishop Dupaoloup, at Orleans, France. The settlements of St. Pierre and Miquelon, comprising the islands of St. Pierre and Great and Little Miquelon, are situated off the south coast of Newfounndland, and opposite the Gulf of St. Lawrence. > TINSLEY'S CHURCH NOTES .-- When Mr. snatched up his contibution envelope from the bureau and got in church in time to drop it in with a prayerful spirit, he was astonished when he got back home to fiad it still there. He was not more astonished, though, than the orderly sergeant was on Monday, when he counted up the envelopes and found one mark--. apothecary and druggist. Calomel. Fifteen grains." The sergeant quietly deposited it in the spittoon with the remark that he didn't think that amount of calomel would convert any able-bodied heathen living. When a man hears the last bell ringing Sunday morning, and has only got to the fifth eyleet in his wife's corset, and heatedly remarks that he had "rather fasten the corset of any other woman than her's," and she says "no doubt you would," and sits down on the trunk and cries, he looks out of the window holding on to the other end of the string, gazing at the ready-dressed women passing to church, and wonders it he will ever be able to attend divine service in this world in peace.

THE AGE OF THE EARTH. - In Professor J. W. Dawsen's Story of the Earth and Man, he seems to pin his faith to Sir William Thomson's calculations as to the age of the earth. We quote:

"From Sir William Thomson's calculations, it would appear that the time which has elapsed from the first formation of a crust on the earth to the modern period may have been from seventy to one hundred millions of years, and the whole time from the vaporous condition of the solar system to the present must, of course, have been still greater than even this enormous series of ages. Such a lapse of time is truly almost inconceivable, but it is only a few days to Him with whom one day is as a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day."

A WAWASET CASE ... On Saturday the case of Andrew Melville against the Potomac Ferry Company was filed, having been appealed from Justice Moulton. The plaintiff alleges that he met with severe internal i jury by coming in contact with and going under the wheel of the Wawaset during the disaster on the 8th of August. He claimed damages from the company to cover lost time---eighteen days---physician's bill, &c., including articles lost on the boat to the amount of $123 45, but sued before Justice Moulton for $1,000, on which he obtained judgment, and defendant appealed. Messrs. Bradley and Bradley appear for plaintiff. --- Washington Chronicle.

"Who Burned Columbia?" - The controversy about the burning of Columbia, S. C .. has received a quasi formal determination by the British-American mixed commission. The controversy grew out of claims for cotton destroyed in the burning of Columbia, which claims were based upon the assumption that the city was burned by the federal soldiers, acting under the authority of the federal commanders. The vast mass of testimony taken on that subject was before the commission, and after giving it careful attention, every one of those claims was disallowed. The total amount claimed was between $6,000,000 and $7,000,000.

Mrs. Margaret Branelin, aged 70, supposed to be very poor, was found in her room in Pittsburg yesterday, murdered. A German family, who occupy the lower part of the house, are suspected of committing the deed. It is said the old lady had large sums of gold in her trunk, which had been broken open and rifled. assisted Charles H. Phelps, money clerk in the New York State Treasury, in disposing of the funds which he stole from the State, has been arrested, and lodged in jail. A dispatch from Salt Lake says: - An im-
